TRAVEL INFORMATION SHEET

Katmai Lodge is located 300 air miles Southwest of Anchorage in the Bristol Bay drainage, on the Alagnak River, the only Designated Trophy Fishing river in Alaska. The town of King Salmon is the closest commercial airport, located 30 miles south of the lodge. Katmai Lodge is not accessible by road, only by our direct charter or transfer through King Salmon.

Please read the information below for our travel information and policies.*

IMPORTANT: Transfer days to/from the lodge are Saturdays and Wednesdays. When travelling to Katmai Lodge, your initial stop in Alaska will be Anchorage. When making flight arrangements into Anchorage, be sure to schedule to arrive the day/evening before your planned trip date, and schedule your departure from Anchorage late afternoon/evening of the day you leave the lodge. Weather(fog) delays are not uncommon in our area. A later departure out of Anchorage is preferred to avoid the chance of missing your connection. Upon request, we can provide you a list of Anchorage hotels with airport shuttle service.

On many Saturdays and Wednesdays, we offer convenient Direct Charters from Anchorage to and from the lodge. The charter normally leaves Anchorage at 8am arriving Katmai Lodge at 9:10am. If we have more than one charter, the second leaves Anchorage approximately 8:30am. arriving Katmai at 9:45am. If a charter flight is not available, you will be routed to King Salmon airport (via Peninsula Airways or Alaska Airlines) where you will be met for transfer to the lodge.

*If you choose to make your own flight reservations through King Salmon, you must schedule your flights to arrive/depart on a Saturday or Wednesday. These are the only days the lodge aircraft is scheduled for King Salmon transfers. We ask you schedule your flight into King Salmon to arrive at or before 12:30pm and your departure out of King Salmon to leave between 9:30am and 1pm. THERE MAY BE SOME WAIT TIME AT KING SALMON AIRPORT WHEN TRANSFERRING TO/FROM THE LODGE. We try to keep this to a minimum, but often need to combine arrival/departure times into one flight to/from the lodge. Outside these times may incur extra charges.

There is no fishing on the day of your departure

Unscheduled transfer days can be arranged if necessary and are subject to additional charges.
